Slack Integration with Betterworks

The Betterworks Slack integration, also known as Betterworks Slackbot, offers a seamless solution for employees using Betterworks who wish to enhance their collaboration and goal management within the Slack workspace.

If you're a Betterworks user aiming to stay informed about your goals, achievements, and recognitions without navigating away from your Slack environment, this integration is ideal.

With real-time notifications and the ability to take immediate actions directly from Slack, the Betterworks Slack integration streamlines communication. And it ensures that employees can effortlessly stay on top of their performance objectives while remaining within their preferred collaboration platform.

Key Features:

- → Weekly digest receive goal status notifications every Monday to boost progress
- Manage goals through Slack to simplify your workflow and stay up to date on initiatives
- Give and receive recognition publicly via Slack to promote collaboration and appreciation culture.
- Request feedback for actionable insights and fresh perspectives to inspire self-growth.
- Give meaningful feedback anytime or during scheduled cycles to reinforce positive behaviors and help colleagues develop new capacities.

Betterworks Slack notifications keep users informed about their progress and provide guidance on necessary actions to stay aligned with the organization's Betterworks program seamlessly within the Slack interface.

There are a few different types of notifications users can receive:

- Weekly Digest
- Request Scheduled Feedback
- Give Scheduled Feedback
- Receive Recognition
- Conversation Cycle Starting

Weekly Digest

What it is: On Mondays at 8 AM (your organization's timezone), you will receive a summary of your goal statuses, pending feedback requests, pending conversations, and a friendly nudge to recognize someone from your organization.

How to use it: Use this update as an opportunity to access your goals for your upcoming week and prioritize your time to align with your goals.

- → Everything on track? Great! Who could you recognize from your organization who helped support your success last week?
- → Is a goal off track? What actions can you take or who can you tap to collaborate with to drive progress during this week?
- Conversations to complete? Use this prompt to create a habit of blocking off time on your weekly schedule to complete each outstanding conversation or feedback request.

Request Scheduled Feedback

What it is: If your organization is running a scheduled feedback cycle and you've been given the necessary permissions to select feedback providers, you'll receive a notification. You can make your selections directly from Slack.

How to use it: Click on the Select Providers button in your Slack notification to complete this request and cross this task off your to-do list.

→ Quick Completion This feature makes it easy to quickly complete this request on the spot, in the flow of your work, and keep your day moving along. Instantly cross tasks off your to-do list while actively working in slack.

Give Scheduled Feedback

What it is: If your organization is running a scheduled feedback cycle and you've been nominated to provide feedback, you'll receive a notification. You can decline or give feedback directly from Slack.

How to use it: Click on the green Give button in your Slack notification to complete this request.

- → Complete Now This feature makes it easy to quickly complete this request in the midst of your work, allowing you to seamlessly progress through your day.
- → Manage Time for Later Use this notification as a prompt to build a habit of scheduling your time. Take a look at your calendar and block off time to complete the feedback request by the deadline in the notification.

Receiving Recognition

What it is: If you are given recognition, you'll receive a notification that includes the recognition text.

How to use it: If you have a Betterworks Slack channel, head to your recognition wall where you can add a little reply comment or leave a gratitude emoji for your hype person.

- → Reply back: Add words of acknowledgment, share the recognition with any collaborators, and add more context to the praise.
- → Drop some Emoji love: Whether its a Wether its a

Conversation Cycle Starting

What it is: If your organization is running a scheduled conversation cycle and you've been included, you'll receive a notification.

How to use it: As a prompt to view the conversation questions and block time on your calendar to complete the conversation within the due date range.

How Slack Commands Work

Slack commands serve as convenient shortcuts within the Slack platform, allowing users to quickly take action or access information without navigating through multiple menus.

Commands have the same format starting with a forward slash, making them easily recognizable and accessible.

Betterworks Slack Commands

/goals Use this command to quickly view or update your goals on Betterworks directly from Slack. It provides a seamless way to stay connected with your objectives without leaving the conversation.

/recognize This command enables users to express appreciation and acknowledge the achievements of their peers. This feature fosters a positive and collaborative work environment, allowing recognition to be shared effortlessly within the Slack platform.

/givefeedback When constructive feedback is essential, the /givefeedback command comes into play. Use this command to provide feedback on specific tasks, projects, or team members, streamlining the feedback process and promoting open communication.

/requestfeedback Prompt meaningful feedback to develop new capacities and promote collaboration. This command allows individuals and managers to encourage a culture of continuous feedback.

To use these commands:

→ Type the desired command in the Slack message input field. i.e. to access your goals, type "/goals" and press enter

NOTE: The following pages will show you what it looks like to use each of the Slack commands so you are ready to introduce Betterworks into your flow of work.

/Goals Command

How to use it: Use "/goals" to view, update progress, and comment on goals.

→ This command makes it easy to manage your goals right in your flow of work, without having to leave Slack.

What to expect when using the /goals command: The below workflow shows you what it is like to use this prompt to update your goals in three easy steps.

Step 1: Use the /goals Slack command

- → Go to your Betterworks Slack app inside of Slack located on your left menu
- → Type the command /goals in the message field
- → Click on the /goals command bar that appears in the pop-up drop down menu
- Press the green send button

FAQs

Can the Slack integration be limited to a select group of users?

Not at this time. Once the Betterworks Slackbot is enabled, it's enabled for everyone entire organization as long as users have a Slack account.

Does the Slack integration work with multiple teams?

Not at this time. The Betterworks Slackbot only works with one Slack team per organization. If your organization uses multiple teams in Slack, you may consider consolidating them into one team and start using channels to separate your conversations.

Is there a character limit when entering recognition?

Yes. 1,900 characters.

Is there a character limit when entering feedback?

Yes. 3,000 characters.

Is there a draft feature for the modules in SlackBot?

Not at this time. When using the Betterworks SlackBot, be prepared to complete your submission during your slack command session.

For recognition and feedback, if you plan to work on your submission over a period of time, we recommend using the Betterworks web application where you are able to save your drafts before your final submission.

Can my organization disable or customize Slack commands?

Not at this time. The commands are the same for all organizations and all users.

What would happen if I use a command for a module that my organization hasn't enabled (i.e. if use the "/givefeedback" when my organization does not have the Feedback module enabled in Betterworks)?

You will receive an error message.

In the event that a module is not enabled, please contact your Admin Team and let them know you are interested in that feature. Our Betterworks customer team can help your organization roll out new features upon request.
